Who are we ?

We are Seeco (UK) Ltd., an established Precision Sheet Metal Engineering company based in Brunel Road, Bedford.

What is 'Personal Information' ?

Information is regarded as personal when it relates to an identified or identifiable natural person. This definition stems from European law, which applies to Seeco (UK) Ltd., and is intentionally broad in order to provide a high level of privacy protection. This means, for example, that not just names and e-mail addresses can be personal information, but also numbers or other identifiers, such as IP-addresses, to the extent that they link other information to a specific human being.

What information do we collect from you ?

We do not collect any personal information from you when you visit our website. However our company website is hosted on the Wix.com online platform which enables us to advertise our services to you. Your visit to our website will be logged by Wix web servers and certain types of information relating to your visit may be retained. Such information may be of a personal and/or non-personal (non-identifiable) nature, consisting of technical and aggregated usage information relating to visitor's device type, operating system, internet browser, screen resolution, internet service provider, language and keyboard settings etc. This is common practice amongst Web hosts for the purposes of maintaining security, error reporting and improvement of their service(s). We do not have access to this data. For further information please refer to Wix's Privacy Policy page by following the link below :

COOKIES

What is a Cookie ?

Cookies are small pieces of data, normally stored as text files, that websites place on visitors' computers to store a range of information, usually specific to that visitor - or rather the device they are using to view the site . They were created to overcome a limitation in web technology. Web pages are 'stateless' - which means that they have no memory, and cannot easily pass information between each other. So cookies provide a kind of memory for web pages. Cookies allow you to login on one page, then move around to other pages and stay logged in. They allow you to set preferences for the display of a page, and for these to be remembered the next time you return to it. Cookies can also be used to watch the pages you visit between sites, which allows advertisers to build up a picture of your interests. Then when you land on a site that shows one of their adverts - they can tailor it to those interests, so called 'behavioural advertising'. Cookies can be classified as either 'persistent' or "session" depending on how long they remain on your computers hard drive. You can learn more about cookies from the following third party website :
